

Graduate Certificate in Play and Art Therapy

Application Form July 2025 Intake

ABOUT THE COURSE

Play and Art Therapy are counselling methods that use toys, games, art materials and activities in purposeful ways to manage psychological and social difficulties. Play Therapy is the most developmentally appropriate and evidenced form of therapeutic intervention for children. Delivered by highly trained and experienced clinicians and teachers who also work in the field, the course is suitable for mental health graduates who work in the field of psychology, social work, counselling, occupational therapy or mental health nursing. The course will provide skills using play and other creative therapies as methods of treatment for multiple child mental health conditions in counselling and group work settings. Graduates will be able to demonstrate an understanding of Play and Art Therapy theories and principles whilst having the ability to apply therapeutic skills within a cultural, social and ethical framework. Graduates will have an appreciation of developmental stages of children and family systems and be sensitive to broaden issues in assessment and design and delivery of therapeutic services. Completion of this course can provide a gateway into further higher degree studies in Play Therapy. From foundational skills in child centered play therapy to the integrative approaches of art, music, drama and sandtray therapies, the course builds on existing mental health qualifications to equip graduates for child and adolescent counselling roles.

FEEDBACK FROM COURSE GRADUATES

Highly recommend this course

The course has encouraged me to think outside the box and challenged me to be more creative in my work with children and young people. I feel inspired and refreshed with new ideas. I have learnt so many useful and meaningful ways to work therapeutically with children and young people. I find myself growing as a person and professionally. I highly recommend this course to new and experienced clinicians who are passionate to work with children and teens.

Trang Nguyen, Mental Health Social Worker

Made me a more playful and adventurous counsellor

The course is structured extremely well, beginning with a focus on non-directive child led play therapy which really seemed to ground the qualities needed to support kids therapeutically. Then with each following module there seemed to be more scope (and more challenge) to engage personally in the expressive forms I was learning. The end result is that I have learnt the theory and skills needed to support the kids I work with as well as personal experience that has made me a more playful and adventurous counsellor (and human).

Donna Spillman, Counsellor

Motivated and inspired

Of all the training I have done, the knowledge and skills you gave me have been sustained the best. I feel I have not only learnt so much but felt, lived and taken on board this whole new philosophy of working with children and adolescents. I've been motivated and inspired to follow what makes my heart sing, not just work. Thank you, for allowing me to realise I'm in the right field of practice and that I can give this work my own flair, flavour and colour. I'm finding myself really thinking about the work I'm doing with children now and enjoy being on this journey with them. You create VERY special moments in time for people and I think every one of us walked out of the course with so much more than we ever thought we'd receive. Thank you.

Social Worker

This is really worth the investment, a valuable experience and you will not regret it!

This course has truly unlocked my passions and abilities and inspired me to bring creativity and experiential activities to my therapeutic work. All of the learning was incredibly valuable to my work and also to my personal development and growth. I feel as though I have been unlocked in working creatively with children, I am no longer afraid of trying a new technique and just allowing the session to flow, trusting the process. The learning has really taught me to be more child centred and client led which is very freeing.

If you are thinking of doing this course, go for it! This course is amazing and will enrich your therapeutic work so much. You will come out of it with a greater understanding of children and will be able to truly meet their needs in the counselling environment. You will also be able to reconnect with your own inner child and open up your creativity, learning about yourself along the way! This is really worth the investment, a valuable experience and you will not regret it! Renee O'Connor, Counsellor

Have never enjoyed a course as much

I'd have to say, the course and its content grabbed me from Day 1! I enjoyed the fact that we got into the role plays by Day 2 and had lots of opportunities to practice. Great learning for me! The case studies helped to put play therapy into "real life" after the role plays, loved them too. I felt apprehensive about the 3 days of art therapy because I see myself has having few artistic skills. In fact, they were the most emotional and powerful days of the course for me. I've never done art therapy and my anxiety around my artistic talents simply melted away. The experiential aspect was amazing and the only way to learn! I have never enjoyed a course as much as I've enjoyed yours. I would do it again in a heartbeat! My head was buzzing for days after each workshop, but in a good way! Thank you ! Thanks for your generosity of information, your gentle way of containing the emotional moments, the caring, calming and trusting environment you created and your infectious passion for play therapy.

Counsellor, Anglicare

Amazing

The days were well planned and executed. Information shared and learnt was amazing, all worth putting into practice. The applications to my work from this training make me feel proud of the person and psychologist I am becoming.
